Jamerika Ramsey helps insurers resolve insurance defense matters through clear communication and a practical courtroom approach.

Jamerika handles insurance defense matters with a focus on practical case management and timely resolution. Her approach is informed by time spent working directly within the court system, where she reviewed records, analyzed testimony, and drafted judicial opinions and orders. That background allows her to anticipate how issues are likely to be viewed by the court. She is adept at premises liability and slip-and-fall claims, and first- and third-party auto negligence litigation.

Jamerika approaches each case with thorough fact analysis and comprehensive document review. She listens carefully to clients, communicates clearly about legal realities, and sets realistic expectations from the start. Her ability to navigate disagreements with opposing counsel and communicate effectively in court stems from experience in both private practice and judicial chambers.

A member of the State Bar of Michigan, Jamerika earned her Juris Doctor from Wayne State University Law School in 2023, where she was a Damon J. Keith Scholar. She served as Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Law in Society and competed on the American Association of Justice National Mock Trial Team. She graduated summa cum laude from Bethune-Cookman University with a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science.

Jamerika is active in the Oakland County Bar Association's Inns of Court Program, the Wolverine Bar Association, and the Straker Bar Association. Outside of her legal practice, she creates realistic portrait drawings and enjoys international travel.
